About fund performance

Investors should always consider performance in relation to the objective of the fund and over periods of at least five years. If a fund has risen in value, it doesn't mean it is meeting its objective – especially if the fund is aiming to outperform a particular benchmark or meet a risk target. The same applies if the fund has fallen in value.

Our risk rating

Minimal risk

Minimal risk funds will typically have underlying investments that we'd expect to experience little change in value from day-to-day. The fund price movements will generally go up but could also go down, particularly in a low interest rate or inflationary environment. They're particularly suited to short-term investment where stability is the main aim. Over the longer term, they're unlikely to deliver high levels of return and returns may not keep pace with inflation.

Fund objective

This fund is aimed at investors who plan to take all their savings out within the next 5 years. It aims to preserve capital before charges, by investing in a portfolio of Sterling denominated money market instruments such as bank deposits, certificates of deposit and short-term bonds. You should be aware that if you keep too much money in this fund over the long term, the value of your investment could be eroded by inflation.

Risks specific to this fund

There is no guarantee the fund will meet its objective. The value of an investment can fall as well as rise and investors could get back less than they originally invested. All funds carry a level of risk and the information below outlines the key risks for this fund.

Third party risk - in the event that the underlying investments which the fund invests in suspend trading, Aegon may defer trading and/or payment to investors. The value ultimately payable will depend on the amount Aegon receives or expects to receive from the underlying investments.

Inflation risk - this fund invests in lower risk investments, which means it shouldn't fluctuate in value greatly and is less likely to fall in value significantly. The downside to this is that returns are likely to be lower and there's a greater risk that they may not keep pace with inflation. It's therefore more suitable for short-term investment where you may need your money quickly.
